"I never knew my Father did those things. He never told us any of that. I am amazed that he would tell you all of that. It's wonderful."

"Thank you for doing this. Now that I hear it back, I sound just like my sister!"

"I want them to know about this. They really don't know. We never really talked about it. But now, I think they ought to know."

"They are recorded all the time but never like that. That will be great for the family."

"That was easy. I'm glad we finally did it. Thanks for pressing us to do it."

"You know, it wasn't really all his war stories alone. Once he got going, he talked about everything.....growing up, his first trolley ride, clay marbles, running away from home...."

"I didn't think I had anything to say, but I just got going and there you have it!"

"I am glad it is not video. This was comfortable and simple."

"I feel a sense of relief at having done this. I know my daughter will appreciate this years from now, and I got to say what I wanted to."

"I never really told my Father how much I appreciated him, and now I can with this recording of what I wrote, in my own voice! Thank you!"

"I think this is amazing. You go to so much trouble to make it easy for us. This was fun."

"That is an important thing you are doing for memories. I know that once we get them recorded, I will feel better."

"Years from now, when I'm gone, I hope they listen to this. I know that I wish I had my Mother's voice recorded."

"It's true, I listen to that and I remember all sorts of things I thought I forgot."

"If you hadn't recorded them, we would not have all this now. Thank you for the incredible gift of their voices."

"What can I say? You were right. Now that we have recorded them, I can't imagine not doing this. What a great thing!"

"You know, after the funeral, I didn't really feel like saying much, but this has really helped."

"I think what you are doing is so important, and I hope that others get it before it's too late."

"I put this off for over two years, and now that my Father is in the hospital, I am glad that we finally recorded him. When he is out, we will record him again."

"You should never have to explain how important this is to anyone. Unfortunately, like me, people take the voices for granted, and that makes your job harder."

"I didn't think that I would remember much about my Grandfather's stories, but it's amazing what you think of after all these years. Remember, I'm really old and that's a long way back!"

"This is the neatest thing I have ever heard. I had no idea this was possible like this. I am going to have you record my whole family and my wife's family."

"You weren't kidding. My mother got used to the microphone immediately and talked up a storm. That was interesting. She couldn't remember some of the things I asked, but she said things I never knew."

"My Uncle was a bit intimidated with my Aunt in the room, but when she left, he had a lot to say. He's actually a very funny guy."

"I cannot believe how clear and real their voices sound. It's like they are right here!"

"I'll never forget it...."

"Once you've done it, it seems so obvious. It's just getting to it that took so long. It's almost embarrassing how long it took for us to get you over here."

"I thought that my Father would tire out quickly, but he just kept going. I didn't know about his other brother. I just never heard him mention it before."

"The quality is amazing. It's great that you did it here in their home."

"The kitchen table was the perfect place. That's where everybody is all the time anyway. That's where they like to be. It worked out well. Everybody was comfortable. Dad didn't want to leave."

"I would like to record at least once a year and get all the kids' voices growing up. I wish I had mine, when I was their age. Can you imagine?"

"There was no pressure. We jumped around from subject to subject. That's how they are. It couldn't have been better."

"If we record the Family for Mom in her facility, she could play it back whenever she wants. Of course she would have to learn to use a CD player. That will be interesting. We'll get her a remote."

"Wow, what more could you want than to freeze your daughter's three year old voice saying Mommy?!"

"This was great. Everyone got into it. It really was interesting. Who would have thought that my parents would talk so much?"

"So, you put a microphone on the stomach to record what the kid inside hears? Won't that be interesting when they are older... What if they talk back?!"

"I just feel better, safer really, that I know we now have them recorded. I know that must sound strange. I'm just glad we did it."

"Is there anyone who shouldn't do this?!"

"You made it so easy for them. We'll do this again."

"You're right. The voice is everything."

"That's incredibly clear! Amazing! Listening to it makes me think of all kinds of things."

"Oh, stop it. Maybe you should go to bed."

"I can see recording my kids every year. They are growing fast, and their voices change. I was thinking about my Grandparents first, but really everyone would be good."

“Your are clearly passionate about this. That’s nice to hear.”

"Without you, this would never have happened. Thank you!"

“You know, if she’d leave the room, I could tell you what really happened.”

“That will be great. We’ll record everyone visiting Grandmother in the home and talking to her, a few at a time. Of course everyone will be there. In the end, when you are done, can you cut out my Sister?”

“Oh, don’t pay any attention to that. He makes it up as he goes.”

“I guess we need lots of copies. Everyone is going to want this.”

"I could hear this a million times and never get tired of it. That's really them!"

"I wish you had been around to record my Grandfather, but Mom and my Uncle talking about him was really interesting. They can't remember yesterday, but they can remember all that. I think they really enjoyed it."

“It’s funny. Now that I think about it, I do remember. I just don’t think I remember it the way she does.”

“I can really hear the difference between the last time we recorded and this time. This was really great, but they have changed.”

"Isn't that extraordinary? I mean they actually did it. We actually did it."

“Where he gets this stuff, I don’t know. It just comes out. Hey, I only live with him. I don’t know where it comes from.”

"You really cared, and you got them to talk. I'm impressed. I wouldn't want anyone but you recording them."

"I'm looking forward to the recording because I think it will fundamentally change our lives and the way we think about each other's voices. It's exciting!"

"I know why you wanted me to read that. Because you enjoy it so much. You listened to it like you were a little kid!"

"That was alright. I kinda enjoyed the talk. You were very nice. Now it's time to get that thing out of my face."
